

CAHO

Committed to Safer Healthcare

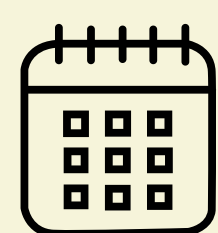

Healthcare services rely on a number of products – from drugs to medical devices to food to electronic items. Many of these items not only need to be of high quality but also safe to use.

Since many products have health and safety implications, they are or should be regulated while others may not need to be regulated but quality needs to be assured. It is therefore necessary for healthcare industry to understand the world of what are called technical regulations and standards, how it should go about procurement of products it needs and what kind of certificates it should rely on.

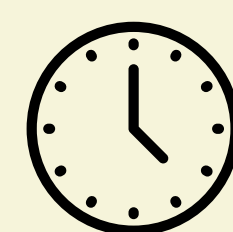

Mr. Anil Jauhri

Former CEO,
National Accreditation Board for Certification Bodies (NABCB),

23rd March 2023

4.00 - 5.30 pm

Highlights

- Legally mandated standards and voluntary standards
- Demonstrating the compliance
- Ensuring the presentation of certificates are credible and authentic

Who Should Attend

- Clinicians
- Administrators
- Quality Managers
- Operations Managers
- Hospital Owners
- Procurement Professionals

REGISTER @

bit.ly/UnderstandingTechnicalRegulationsandStandards